

Lucton Bulletin

May 6th
2022

It has been a really good week for most of us, although our Year 11 students may beg to differ. They started their GCSE exams this week, and I wish them all the very best of luck.

The week started with a brilliant Open Day and I'm really grateful to everyone who came in on a Bank Holiday and represented the school so well. Many of our long-standing staff commented that they had never seen so many visitors, and it was great to also receive glowing feedback about our student tour guides. We are very lucky to have such a fantastic community here at Lucton.

I was also delighted to be able to confirm a couple of new staff appointments this week, which I will tell you about more fully in due course. With plenty of new joiners on the staff and student side, there is much to look forward to in the weeks and months ahead.

Speaking of which, next week is another busy one, and I hope that Year 5 enjoy their exciting week away.

Orchestral Day

The Music department would like to invite your child to take part in its third 'Orchestral Day' on Monday 16th May. We are delighted to welcome four members of the English Symphony Orchestra to provide the majority of the tuition for the day. The cost of the day is £17.50 and students need to sign up in advance.

Boarding News

The students have enjoyed welcoming all the new boarders into the boarding community this week. The boarding house is definitely much busier and much louder! Everyone has settled in well, and some great friendships have been made, which has been great to see.

This weekend Mrs Leonard and Mr Goodchild organised a trip to the lovely city of Chester. Some of our older students enjoyed wandering round the shops, whilst the younger ones stayed in groups for a stroll along the river before heading down some quaint streets and visiting the cathedral; the milkshake bar being a highlight of the day!

Sunday saw a more relaxed day, starting off with a wonderful brunch. The rest of the day was spent in an equally relaxed fashion, with students playing tennis, basketball and table tennis, to name a few activities. What a lovely, sunny and chilled out weekend to start the Summer Term with!
